16th September 2005

Dear Beekeeper,

Welcome to our winter programme of meetings.

Our first meeting is on Monday 26th September at St Davids College, Llandudno at 7.30pm.

Mr. Geoff Critchley will give a Review of the Season and planning for next season. This is your chance to discuss your successes and any problems this year. My own bees have given fairly good honey crops right through the season. We hope your bees have done well.

Conwy Honey Fair was a day to remember! Twenty honeymongers were selling honey faster than ever to a continuous stream of customers from 9am onwards. It was a beautiful day and we've never seen so many people in Conwy.

We're looking for anecdotes from the Honey Fair. Here's one.....

Customer.. "Does honey help with asthma please?"

Beekeeper... "Yes, I think so".

Customer.... "OK, I'll have six jars please, it's for the dog".

Saturday 22nd and Sunday 23rd October. Gwledd Conwy Feast. 10am til 5pm.

www.conwyfeast.co.uk Conwy's second annual food festival with 60 stalls celebrating the best of local food and drink. Cookery demonstrations, food tasting. Various venues around Conwy town. Don't miss this great event!

Still got honey to sell? Honey sales in the marquee in Lancaster Square.

Monday 31st October. Association Honey Show. See attached schedule.

Apistan and Apiguard are available from Chris Clarke, Tyn y Bwlch, Moelfre, Abergele. Ring Chris on 01745 832812 to collect at the meeting. Don't leave your treatment too late.

Honey jars are available from the secretary @ £29 per gross including gold plastic lid.

Association Website We'd welcome your digital images and information to add to the site, and your comments and suggestions. Visit the website for the full winter programme.

New members

Welcome to Jon and Josie Goodwin, Eglwysbach, recruited at Eglwysbach Show. Good luck with your bees.

Best wishes.
